Letters of Appreciation....

Note of thanks from Graduate in El Salvador

I have the pleasure to tell you that last week was my graduation. I'm finally an architect. My graduation was really beautiful and exciting. I had the honor to speak in the ceremony and gave a speech on the name of my graduate partners. I had that honor because I had the best grade of my class. I am sending a few photos of my graduation. I hope you like it. Thank you for your help—thank you for everything. This was only possible because of your help.

*With affection,
Alida Pinto*

Diverson Chonde's LifeNets scholarship success story

He is a UCG member from near Lilongwe, Malawi. He is married to Prisca and has two children. He found his way to the United Kingdom to educate himself further so that he could provide a better life for his family. He is the chief of his community back in Malawi, and while he was gone, his wife, Prisca, took over the chief's duties. LifeNets helped Diverson with a few certifications in computer science while in the United Kingdom. He is now able to have better work as he is continuing his studies. He has brought his wife and children to the United Kingdom but will be returning to Malawi.

Local pastors in these areas oversee the distribution of the scholarships.

LifeNets is a 501 (c) (3) nonprofit organization that develops programs offering practical assistance to promote the well-being and self-sufficiency of disadvantaged people throughout the world and, where possible, encourages them to pass on their LifeNets gift. Through volunteer help we have helped thousands of people in Latin America, Africa, Ukraine, the Baltics and more.
